

Piano Made FUN for the Young

Readiness Checklist

Is your child ready for a piano class?

Since every child is so different, it is important for you (the parent) to help determine if your child is ready to begin a piano class.

First, you and your child should be willing to commit to short, daily practice sessions together at home.

Also, your child should be able to:

- Sit, listen, and follow directions in a structured classroom setting.
- Recognize and name most of the alphabet letters and demonstrate an interest in beginning reading.
- Recognize and name numbers 1 through 10.
- Wiggle each finger independently.
(Finger dexterity and strength will improve as the student progresses)
- Clap to a steady beat.
- Demonstrate a desire to learn to play the piano.
